'Automation may lead to slack in labour market'

RBI Governor calls for training of workforce, warns of digital divide

OUR BUREAU

Mumbai September 22 Reserve Bank of India Governor Shaktikanta Das said a major challenge to inclusiveness in the post-pandemic world would come from the fillip to automation provided by the pandemic even as he underscored the need to guard against any emergence of digital divide as digitisation gains speed.

"Greater automation would lead to overall productivity gain, but it may also lead to slack in the labour market. Such a scenario calls for significant skilling/ training of our workforce.

"We also need to guard against any emergence of digital divide as digitisation gains speed after the pandemic," said Das at the 48th National Management Convention of the All India Management Association (AIMA).

Hiring of professionals

Referring to the demand for professional human resources trained in science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) rising briskly, the Governor noted that major technology-based firms have expressed their intention to hire many new professionals with skills in these areas.

In the short term, the supply of such a workforce cannot be increased by the traditional educational system and, thus, there is a need for close involvement of corporates in the design and implementation of courses suitable to the changing industrial landscape, he logy adoption, which was earlier limited to core sectors, has now permeated to several other areas - education, health, entertainment, retail trade and offices.

The pandemic has also caused disruptions and induced reallocation of labour and capital within and across sectors. "The firms that were quick to adopt technology and were flexible in working from off-site are attracting more capital and labour.

"On the other hand, firms that were not up for the challenge and competition will have to leave the space for the more dynamic ones," said the Governor. He opined that these forces of 'creative destruction' are expected to boost productivity by encouraging greater competition, dynamism and innovation in several sectors of the economy.

Lasting damage

Das noted that the pandemic

RBI Governor Shaktikanta Das

has affected the poor and vulnerable more, especially in emerging and developing economies. "Daily wage earners, service were badly hit. Their employment and income opportunities were curtailed. "The lasting damage inflicted by the pandemic on these segments is of serious concern growth and macroeconomic performance, he added.

Das mentioned that within countries, contact-intensive service sectors employing large number of informal, lowskilled and low-wage workers have been hit harder due to the pandemic.

"In several emerging and developing economies, lack of healthcare access has disproportionately affected the family budget of the poor.

"Even education, which was provided online during the pandemic, excluded the lowincome households due to the lack of requisite skills and resources. Overall, there are evidences across countries that the pandemic may have severely dented inclusivity," he said.

Innovation

Das felt that income and job creation with digitalisation and innovation can bring about a new age of prosperity for a large number of people. "As we recover, we must deal with the legacies of the crisis and create conditions for strong, inclusive and sustainable growth.

"Limiting the damage that the crisis inflicted was just the first step; our endeavour should be to ensure durable and sustainable growth in the post-pandemic future," he said.

The Governor emphasised that restoring durability of private consumption, which has remained historically the mainstay of aggregate demand, will be crucial going forward. More importantly, sustainable growth should entail building on macro fundamentals via medium-term investments, sound financial systems and structural reforms.

Towards this objective, Das underscored that a big push to investment in healthcare, education, innovation, physical and digital infrastructure will be required.

SII to invest $68 m in British vax-maker Oxford Biomedica

To develop plant that produces Covid-19 shots

REUTERS

September 22 Vaccine-maker Serum Institute of India (SII) will invest £50 million ($68 million) in Oxford Biomedica to help fund the development of a plant that manufactures Covid shots, said the British company on Wednesday.

Serum and Oxford Bioproduce medica traZeneca's vaccine.

Serum Life Sciences, a unit of India-based SII, will pick up a 3.9 per cent stake in Oxford Biomedica as part of the deal.

Oxford Biomedica, spun off from Oxford University in 1995, said it will use the funds to develop the fallow area at its Oxbox plant into a manufacturing space, expected to come online in mid-2023. The Oxbox plant currently makes Covid shots, and the new space is expected to include a capacity to produce viral vectorbased products, including vaccines, said Biomedica.

Sales estimates

Serum's investment comes four months after Oxford Biomedica doubled its sales estimates from the AstraZeneca shot to more than £100 million by 2021-end.

A representative for SII did not immediately respond to Reuters' request for a comment.

For Serum, the deal is the second in as many weeks, following its planned purchase of a 15 per cent stake in Biocon's biologics unit.

The Oxford-based company said on Wednesday it swung to a profit after its half-yearly revenue more than doubled.

The retired employees of Air India have petitioned the PMO and the Ministry of Civil Aviation to continue the medical benefits that they have been receiving so far, even after the airline is privatised and sold off to the winning bidder.

They said that employees were required to contribute to become a member of the Retired Employees Contrib-Family Medical Scheme (RECFMS). The contribution had been deducted from their final settlement. There are about 60,000 retired employees and their spouses who currently avail

Vehicle finance: Federal Bank joins hands with Ashok Leyland

OUR BUREAU Mumbai, September 22

Federal Bank, on Wednesday, signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with Ashok Leyland, which will enable the two to offer customised financial solutions to their customers.

"The bank will work towards catering to the customers' needs through commercial vehicle loans with easy monthly repayment plans best suited for the customers. Moreover, the bank will leverage technology for enhancing customer experience," said Federal Bank in a statement.

Harsh Dugar, Group President, Federal Bank, said: "In our bank, funding to commercial vehicles is offered through dedicated RMs and wide network of branches. With this partnership, we will be able to offer our financial solutions by leveraging the bank's extensive physical and digital reach to the customers of Ashok Leyland and its dealers.'

SHISHIR SINHA New Delhi, September 22

The managerial and leadership services by a corporate office to its group companies and other construction sites registered in different States is considered supply of service and will be taxable under GST, said the Maharashtra Authority for Advance Ruling (MAAR).

This ruling is a step forward from Karnataka's AAR ruling in the matter of Bengaluru-based Columbia Asia Hospitals, where it was said that services by staff at the main office for branches in other States will attract GST.

This was upheld by the Appellate Authority and is now pending before the Karnataka High Court, which has listed the matter for September 27. Although AAR rulings are binding only upon applicant and ters. The tax department takes cognisance of engaluru. September 22 Across the world, corporates are aggressively investing in the agile transformation of their organisations to meet the demands of the market during the pandemic. In an interaction with BusinessLine, Vijai Kishan, Head – Personal Investing, Fidelity Investments India, talks about how the company adapted to the "new way living, working and being". Excerpts:

Are the rules for agile transformation being rewritten following the pandemic?

To me, it makes all the difference whether an organisation pursues agile transformation just for the sake of it or if it does so because it truly believes in the value such a transformation can bring. At Fidelity, we began our agile journey way before the pandemic hit. We were among the first financial service organisations in the US to implement agile principles at scale. Business, product, and mar-

According to a recent survey,

tions wishing to implement agile transformation should be committed to the process and appreciate its impact and scale. They must also be able to take their employees along and create flat organisational structures to enable their participation in decision-making.

3) Investing in the thrill: The biggest challenge is getting your workforce invested in the success of such a massive change. Once they are on board, they become your most powerful proponents, helping drive the change across the organisation.

"Pursuant to the adjustment, the eligible reserve to total assets ratio for the bank has improved," it added. Additionally, as per the De-

March 23, 2020, referred to as Nationalised Banks (Management and Miscellaneous Provisions) Amendment Scheme, 2020, the bank still has share premium reserves, which can be utilised to set off any losses in future, and this supports the credit profile of Tier-I (under Basel III) instruments. "However, any substantial depletion of the share premium account or any regulatory changes to appropriation of the share premium account pertaining to adjustment of accu-

Capital infusion The agency emphasised that supported by regular capital infusion made by the government of India (GoI) and higher accrual, BoI's capital ratios have improved, as reflected in Tier-1 and overall capital to risk-weighted adequacy ratio (CRAR) of 12 per cent and 15.1 per cent, respectively, as on June 30,

Further, the recent qualified institutional placement (QIP) of ₹2,550 crore in August, should also support the capital position.

The overall ratings continue to reflect the expectation of strong support from the majority stakeholder, GoI, and the established market position and comfortable resource profile of the bank.

"These strengths are partially offset by weak asset quality and modest earnings profile," said the agency.
